Where you are right now in your life, financially, physically, and mentally, is exactly how you designed it.

Nobody else is to blame for where you are in life right now.

Take full responsibility

The easiest way to fail

- Having the impression that you know everything
- Talking to others instead of taking action
- Asking about how X connects to Y and attempting to understand everything academically before taking action
- Speaking with others and building relationships before gaining your own momentum
- Not requesting assistance during the weekly Q&A webinars or in the Facebook group
- Telling stories rather than asking questions
- Playing the victim and blaming anybody except yourself

Important things to keep in mind

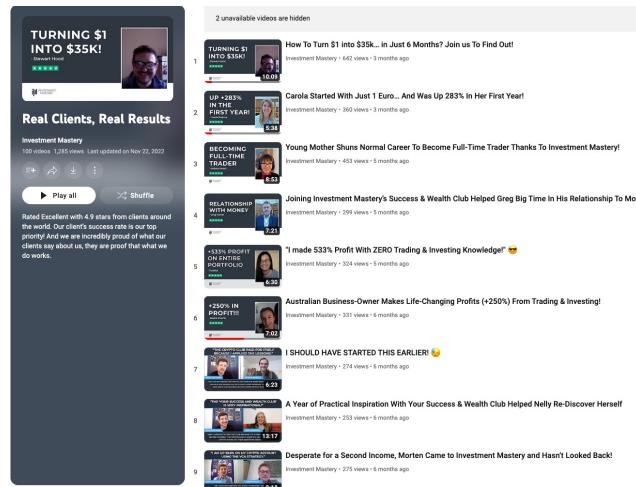

- Nothing is a failure
- Take tremendous action while acknowledging that it will not be perfect
- Feeling comfortable is bad, please be aware that as you level up, you will encourage discomfort. Accept it!
